John Rogers, who was indicted at the last term of court here for illegal branding and the case dismissed, was rearrested and held for the United States grand jury at Prescott. The case against him was dismissed in that court and Rogers is again free.

The board of control would certainly be in line with the wishes of the people if they would take some steps toward completing the branch asylum building at Flagstaff. It stands as a useless structure in its present condition, and it should be completed at as early a date as possible.

The Phoenix Gazette of the 7th says: The board of control was in session yesterday, and appointed Architect McGinnis to go to Flagstaff to prepare plans to turn the reform school into an insane asylum. There is but $7,000 available for that purpose, and but very little improvement can be made with that sum.

Ygnacio Silvester, the line man for the Sunset Telephone Company, completed putting in all the instruments here, and left for Prescott yesterday. The company now has 46 instruments in Flagstaff and will soon put one in at the rock quarry and another at the Greenlaw Lumber Company's mill. The service since the first of the month has been both day and night.

On Friday of last week excursion trains began to pass through here. They averaged about eight trains per day up to Tuesday and each train had at least seven coaches. This would make 890 coaches and each would average at least fifty people. This gives an idea of the number of people who have passed through here since our last issue, which is about 15,000 souls.

Yesterday morning W. G. Bansly, a recent employe of the Enterprise mill, being unused to the sawmill machinery in some way got his right elbow against a fastly revolving circular saw, the blade cutting through the bone. Dr. W. S. Robinson was quickly summoned and performed a surgical operation, removing the joint. The wound was very painful, but Mr. Bansly is now resting easy.

It may not seem plausible but the time is coming in the history of Coconino county when thousands of acres of land will be reclaimed by means of dams and reservoirs. Just above our city a reservoir could be constructed and millions of gallons of waste water saved which could be utilized. It would require a considerable outlay of money it is true, but the scheme is nevertheless a plausible one.

Col. C. C. Bean, well-known here, is in Denver making preparations to rebuild the Walnut Grove dam which gave way eight years ago. Many of our citizens remember the incident of its giving away, and indeed one of them, Wm Stout, came very near being one of the victims of the unfortunate occurrence. The original dam covered 1400 acres, and was 400 feet long, 120 feet high and 136 feet thick.

Mark McDonald, a young man living on the Verde, who was bitten by a skunk about three months ago and taken to Chicago for treatment, returned to Flagstaff a few days ago, apparently recovered. This morning he was attacked with spasms, all the symptoms of hydrophobia manifesting themselves and he died a few minutes afterward in horrible agony. This is an exceeding sad case and the sudden and unexpected death of this bright, upright young man brings sorrow into the homes of his relatives, friends and acquaintances. Undertaker Whipple leaves in the morning (Friday) for the Verde with the remains and the funeral takes place Saturday.
